POLICE BELIEVE THEY HAVE BROKEN UP ROBBER GANG

Arrests of Early Tuesday Morning Prove to Be Very Important

PRISONERS TAKEN TO THE CITY

The arrests made by the Charleroi police early Tuesday morning at which time John Leppert, John Sharkey and Roy Sharon or Shannon, as well as three women, Mrs. Adele Cattors of Monaca, Elizabeth Walters of North Side, Pittsburgh, and Eleanor Brunner of Charleroi, proved to be of more than usual importance. The arrest of these parties was brought about by an arrest made on Monday by the motorcycle squad of the Pittsburgh police when Lem Sharkey and a companion attempted to trade off four new Goodrich tires in Pittsburgh for tires of a smaller make. The actions of the men were suspicious and the police took them in Sharkey when arrested, said the tires belonged to his brother John. When the Charleroi police were informed of the arrests they decided to arrest the parties above mentioned, as Leppert and his companions had been under investigation for a number of months.

The sextet were arrested at the Leppert home 205 Eighth street and lodged in the borough lockup, where they were held until Thursday afternoon, when Detective Frank Dodson arrived from Pittsburgh and took them to that city. The women are not supposed to be implicated in the robberies. It is believed that they know a great deal about a number of jobs in and around Pittsburgh and will be given a thorough investigation with a prospect of a severe sentence to follow.

When the local police raided the home they secured a large number of letters belonging to Leppert, and in the afternoon when a more complete investigation was made by Chief Albright, officers Murphy, Corer and Walsh and Patrick Woodward, some burglar tools were found, as well as a revolver, two pairs of handcuffs, six black masks and a quantity of other material secured.

Two automobiles were also there, but those the police did not molest. It is the opinion of the local officers that this gang has been mixed up in a number of local robberies including the one at Robertson's auto repair store some months ago, at Birken's store and the Monack Brothers' store. The local police also believe they were responsible for robberies in other towns in the valley, and that their arrest will break up a bad gang which has been operating in this community for some time.

Chief Albright took Leppert's wife to Pittsburgh today, and efforts will be made to secure additional evidence against him.

Chief Albright and his force have had these parties under suspicion for the past six months, and a quiet investigation was under way when gang

LIFT OPTION ON MORTON FARM FOR COUNTRY CLUB

The option held by the County Country Club on the Morton farm, near Beallsville, has been lifted and the final payment for the property will be made on the first day of April next, at which time Mr. Morton will give up possession of the property. Plans are now being made for an 18 hole golf course on the property as well as other improvements which will make club grounds among the best in the western part of the state.

THOUGHT INCOME TAX WOULD BE RETURNED

For several hours Monday afternoon a large crowd of striking foreigners congregated in front of the Donora post office, striving to get near the telegraph pole upon which was posted a bulletin of the Collector of Internal Revenue and which contained along list of names of Donora men who had assessed against them an income tax for the year of 1918, and on which either full or part payment had been made. The list was first put up in the Donora post office, but the crowd became so large that Postmaster Vernon was forced to put it outside. Then some one got a bright idea and told the foreigners that the men whose names were on the list were to receive their money back, and this tale seems to have been taken in good faith by the men. As a consequence Postmaster Vernon was soon overrun by men who wanted to know when they would get their money back, and he had a busy session explaining to the applicants that instead of receiving money from the government, they were expected to remit to the Internal Revenue Collector the amount they owed to Uncle Sam.

POLYANNA CLUB MEETS WITH MISS BROMWICH

The Polyanna Club met at the home of Miss Anna Bromwich on Washington avenue Thursday evening. After the regular business meeting the evening was spent in fancy work. Twenty members of the club and one visitor were present. A sumptuous lunch was served by the hostess.

All Departments of Donora Mills Are Now in Operation

The duplex, or steel blowing department of the Donora Steel works, which has been shut down since the beginning of the strike, resumed operations on Thursday. This was the last department of the steel plant at Donora to resume, and its renewal of activity on Thursday marked the final step on the part of the management in getting every unit of the plant into full operation. Officials of the Steel and Wire company said that 2,000 men had reported for work Tuesday morning, the largest number at any time since the beginning of the strike on the 22nd of September. This number has been augmented by other men reporting each morning since and this fact allowed the steel mill to resume at the duplex.

During the week many men have applied for their old jobs, only to find them filled by others and no disposition on the part of the steel company to make any change. Indications at Donora pointed to the fact that all of the mills would be back to normal production by the first of next week, and that those men who have held out and who have refused or neglected to look after their old jobs will have to seek elsewhere for employment.

SAYS THAT TURKEYS WILL BE PLENTIFUL

The Uniontown Herald says that with an unusually large supply and an apparent small demand the proverbial turkey should find little trouble in greasing the festive bonfire on Thanksgiving day. Local dealers are paying the farmers practically the same price this year as they did last year, and while other eatables have advanced considerably in that time the farmers are finding a poor market. With the high price of grain there is a tendency to place the birds on the market as soon as possible. However, many of the farmers are reluctant to dispose of their birds and some of them will hold them over until Christmas.

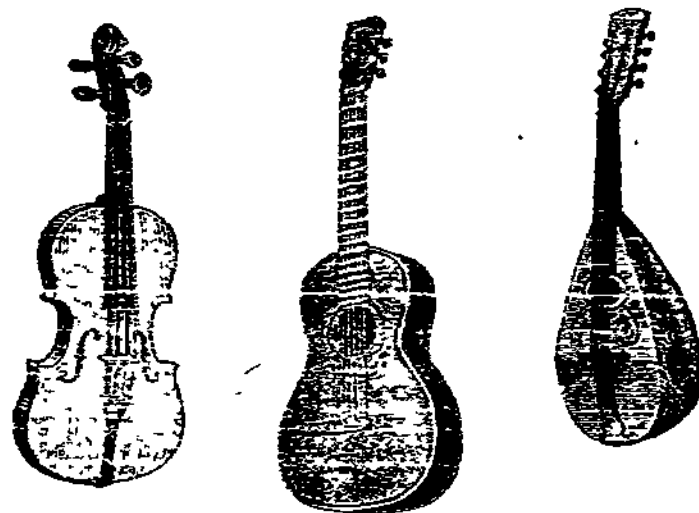

One Uniontown dealer said he would not be surprised if the market was flooded for Thanksgiving. Last Spring was an excellent one for turkeys and the flocks this year are reported larger than for a number of years. The price quoted this week ranged from 45 cents live weight to 50 cents dry picked, and 55 cents fully dressed. This is practically the same rate that prevailed last year.

SPECIAL TRAIN WILL RUN TO MORGANTOWN

A special train will run from Brownsville next Thursday morning to Morgantown, for the benefit of those who wish to attend the football game at that place, between W. & J. and West Virginia University. The train is scheduled to leave Brownsville at 9:45 a. m. and will arrive at Morgantown at 11 o'clock. Returning it will leave Morgantown at 7 o'clock and reach Brownsville at 8:15 p. m. In addition to those going by special a large number of those interested are expected to go to Morgantown on the Fairmont express for the purpose of witnessing the game.

MONESSEN SELECTS SITE FOR JUNIOR SCHOOL

The building committee of the Monessen board of public education has selected a site for the Junior High school to be erected in that town. The site selected adjoins the new High school building, and will have to be condemned. A number of houses are on the site. It is proposed to erect a building containing 24 rooms, and perhaps connect the new building with the High school.

SAY PROSPECTS ARE GOOD FOR SETTLEMENT

The coal operators now in conference with miners' representatives at Washington City on the wage scale have made an offer of a 15 per cent advance for mining and a 20 per cent advance for day hands. John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers, stamped the concession as wholly inadequate, but both sides look upon the offer as breaking the ice and leaving the question open for further concessions on both sides. In the meantime the union mines still remain idle and the supply of coal is becoming shorter from day to day. However it is said prospects are good for a settlement.

HAVE ADOPTED NEW ERA PROGRAM

The "New Era" program, planned for Presbyterian churches this year has been adopted in its entirety by the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church. The families of the church have been divided into six groups with leaders appointed for each group. The groups met on Tuesday evening and took up simultaneously the study of a book for one hour. Reports were given at prayer meeting on Wednesday evening and were very encouraging. The "New Era" objectives are kept constantly before the minds of the people by charts and literature, and a large subscription list was recently sent to the New Era Magazine.

NEW TRAIN SCHEDULE ON NOVEMBER 30TH

Notices have been posted that a new passenger train schedule will be put into effect on the 30th of November on the Monongahela Division of the Pennsylvania railroad. One Defendent In Boehme Case In "Pen," Other In Allegheny Jail

BUCKHOLDT CASE GOES OVER

Two homicide cases in which Charleroi was interested, and which were listed for trial at this term of court were continued and will come up at a later term one of them possibly in February, while the other may be deferred even longer.

The Boehme murder case, for which Emmanuel Campbell and Andy Greylock were indicted was the first continued. Campbell has been sent to the penitentiary for a period of ten years, while he will be compelled to serve an additional two and one-half years of a former term for breaking his parole. Greylock has been taken to Allegheny county to answer to charges of robbery and murder. He has already admitted his guilt of robbing a woman in Pittsburgh of over $3,000 and on this he will likely receive a severe sentence. An indictment may also be brought against him for the murder of Policeman Hamilton at Turtle Creek last April, but officials are dubious as to securing the necessary testimony to secure a conviction.

The case against James McMonigal and August Kerner charged with the death of James Buckholtz last August was called for trial. District Attorney Bump, before the jury was sworn, stated the case would be tried only as to McMonigal. D. M. Cleskey, attorney for the defendants, alleged surprise and said they were prepared to go ahead with the trial of both McMonigal and Kerner and opposed a severance. The district attorney stated the reason for asking for a severance was that the commonwealth had no case against Kerner. Counsel for the defense still opposed a continuance. After consultation with the defendant a continuance was asked and granted. The defendants were directed to be released on giving $3,000 bail.

An official report from the British War Office tells of the good work done by the animals at the front. The report states that the animals have been used in many ways, including carrying messages, pulling loads, and acting as sentries. The report also mentions that the animals have been used in many other ways, including acting as guides and as a source of food. The report concludes by stating that the animals have been a great help to the British forces during the war.

FOREST FIRES WASTE WEALTH

Future of Country's Timber Supply Depends on the Elimination of Conflagrations

The future of our timber supply depends in a large measure on the elimination of the forest fires which annually burn over large tracts of cut-over and waste lands in the South, says Prof. H. W. Barre, director of the South Carolina experiment station. All of our native pines produce an abundance of seed, and where these fall and remain undisturbed young trees readily spring up. Seedling pines will not stand even a light fire. When the land is burned over every year, it is impossible to get a good stand of vigorous young pines; but if fires are kept out, young trees come up to a thick stand and grow rapidly.

One tract of cut-over pine land in the Coastal Plain section seemed to slash pine twenty-one years ago was sealed recently and found to contain 42 cords of wood, or the equivalent of 21,000 board feet of lumber per acre. Thousands of acres in South Carolina will do as well if the fires are kept out and nature is given a chance to reproduce our forests.

Best Always to Come. Many years ago I was smoking a cigar with Dior Boucicault in his room. Sundry matters were discussed and all the while I was gaining knowledge that I could not have boasted when I entered, for Boucicault was one of the best informed and most agreeably impertinent men I have known. He was asked how many plays he had written.

"Oh, a great number—several hundred, maybe, beginning with 'London Assurance' in 1841. Of course you understand that many of the plays bearing my name are only adaptations, still the number is prodigious—considering the source," he said with a wink.

"Well, then," I said, "of all your plays, what one in your judgment is the best?"

"My dear boy," he answered in the intimitably broad tone that Boucicault also alone could use, "the best play? Ah! I think it's the one I'm going to write next."—Detroit Free Press.

"We are told that out of wedding rings," declared one of the biggest London retail jewelers recently. "Every soldier back from the front seems to be determined to get engaged."

"All through the day we are being asked to show engagement rings. Imagine the expression of one couple when I told them that we were sold out! 'Well, George, we are in the fashion, anyway,' said the girl as she retired."

"It seems only a few months ago that wedding rings were the cry, and we had to replenish our stocks in a big hurry. But few wedding rings are required now. Engaged couples are waiting for the actual signing of the peace treaty before they join up."

"Darling," her ideal man murmured mournfully, "I've just been in to speak to your father."

"Oh, Harry, tell me how you came out."

"Just a moment too late."

Petersburg, Va.—“For two years my daughter suffered from a weakness and pains in her right side; at times she was so bad she could not do any work. For two years she was attended by the best physicians here, and both agreed that she would have to be operated on. I suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and at first she refused to take it, but finally consented. From the very beginning it helped her, and now she is entirely well, and telling everybody how much good it has done her.”—Mrs. W. D. WELLS, 226 North Adams Street, Petersburg, Va.

If every girl who suffers as Miss Wells did, or from irregularities, painful periods, backache, headache, dragging down pains, inflammation or ulceration would only give this famous root and herb remedy a trial they would soon find relief from such suffering. Billie was soon to have his third birthday and could hardly wait for the party his mother promised him. Every day he inquired about it. His mother told him his little birthday hadn't come yet and that he must wait until it came. He ran to the window and said: "Oh mamma, I see it now coming up the road."

Beech Valuable in Medicine.
The beech wood is found in the temperate zone in Europe, America and Asia. It is valuable in medicine for the essence distilled from its bark. Creosote, creosote carbamate and guaiacol are medicines used to supplement the hygienic measures which have done so much to reduce the death rate of sufferers from pulmonary tuberculosis.

The Horse in Scripture.
Scripture has not forgotten the horse. There we are told of the "pale horse whose name is Death," the horse to whose "strength" we are not to "trust," the "horsemen and chariots" of Pharaoh, with thousands of others too numerous to mention. In the pages of the Scriptures, alone the horse occupies a goodly place.

Happiness in Appreciation.
Happiness comes not from the power of possession, but from the power of appreciation. Above most other things it is wise to cultivate the powers of appreciation. The greater the number of stops on an organ the greater its possibilities as an instrument of music.—H. W. Sylvester.

THE TREATY REJECTED

The treaty of peace and covenant of the league of nations for the time being, is in the discard. That it will be presented to the Senate again when it reconvenes in December there is not a great deal of doubt. While the Lodge ratification resolution was defeated, therefore refusing assent of the Senate to the document, there are enough members in the Senate who are willing to go along provided there are certain vital changes made in the instrument, whereby it will not violate our Constitution.

Of course we are going to hear a great deal of argument within the next few months on this question, and the position in which it will place the United States in relation to the other nations of the world, but the first duty of the Senate, in considering the treaty, was to take care of the United States. Senator Knox said that the treaty and covenant cannot be accepted in its present form unless there is an amendment to the Constitution—that the treaty-making power attempted to do things it had no right to do.

A treaty of peace will come eventually—a league of nations with the United States a member is also a possibility, but it must conform to our Constitution before it will be acceptable to the Senate and to the people.

No doubt in any statements will be made saying that the people of the country demand the treaty and the covenant, but the peculiar features about such arguments is the fact that wherever the league of nations has been an issue the people generally have voted against it. Only one district in which a special election was held, and that in Alabama, voted to return the candidate advocating it, and he got through by a greatly reduced majority. There may be another effort to pass the measure but in order to gain support radical changes must be made.

SENATOR KNOX ATTITUDE

Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, explaining his attitude on the Lodge resolution for ratification of the peace treaty, said:

"I have voted in the committee and also in the Senate for the reservation that are attached to this resolution of ratification, but I intend to vote against the resolution.

"I voted for the reservations because I wanted to make the treaty as little harmful, as little obnoxious, to our Constitution, as it was possible keeping in view the temper of the committee and the temper of the Senate.

"But while the reservations have been helpful in that direction, in my deliberate judgment, formed after the most careful and painstaking study of this instrument, a study undertaken with no original attitude of unfriendliness towards it, as it stands with these reservations, it is in my judgment that it imposes obligations upon the United States which, under our Constitution, cannot be imposed by the treaty making power.

"It delegates powers and functions to an extraneous body of such nature that only the people of the United States by an amendment to the Constitution can confer, and I think that no man need make apology, who can conscientiously say that, if he were to vote for the resolution of ratification to this treaty, he would be consciously committing a deliberate perjury to the oath of office to support the Constitution against foreign and domestic enemies—and it has been assailed by both—and converting his seat here from a seat of honor to a seat of dishonor."

The Lodge ratification was defeated in the Senate by a vote of 39 for to 52 against. Thirty-five Republicans and four Democrats voted for the resolution, and 53 Democrats and 13 Republicans against it. After this vote the Senate adjourned to meet the first Monday in December, when the regular session will begin.

It is critically urged against General Pershing that he is without a wound yet in this he has the company of all modern commanders, these having the good sense to keep out of range while directing the war machines so dependent upon them for success.

HIS FACE HIS FORTUNE

There is a theory that the male human has need only of quality and strength and comeliness is superfluous even undesirable. This theory—a manifest exaggeration of a certain amount of basic truth behind it—is brought to attention by the decision of the United States Supreme Court that a man may defend a vested right to pecuniary value if not to a fortune in his face. The New York legislature provided in its compensation law that awards might be made up to $2500 for industrial accidents which were purely facial disfigurements. Challenging this provision in cases where the misfortune did not impair manual working capacity, an industrial casualty company held that in such cases it was beyond the province of industrial compensation. And now the Federal Court has upheld New York's law.

Obviously the law is just. Ordinarily a man's face and not his fortune to the extent that a woman's is, but male pugnacity is unquestionably an asset, for while good looks may help a man to get a job, facial disfigurement will certainly handicap him. Therefore he deserves redress if an accident in his workshop should leave an unsightly scar across his cheek. Such a scar would absolutely destroy the earning capacity of some men. Take the male stars of the "movie" firmament as an example. How long would a Wallace Reid or a Eugene O'Brien remain an idol of the masses if after an incurable face-scarring accident? In a few instances at least it may be said of even a man that his face is his fortune.

THE CRAVING FOR CONTRAST

There are artists who say it is not their desire or purpose to produce beauty, but merely to suggest beauty, and judging by their pictures, they undertake to suggest beauty by producing ugliness. This theory of art is called to mind by the return of a man and his wife after seven years of residence in one of the most peaceful and beautiful of the Caribbean islands. On landing in New York, after shaking the dust of their terrestrial paradise from their feet, the wife said she wanted an old-fashioned New England winter and the husband said: "It was great for a while but finally it got too dod-blasted beautiful. We are going back to Connecticut to see some rocks and barren fields." Similarly affected, a Southern woman after long residence in Cuba some years ago remarked that the unchanging green of the "pearl of the Antilles" remained her of the fixed smile of a pretty but simple and socially untrained young girl.

Beauty in large and continuous doses may meet on one's nerves. Of course the artists or near-artists who will not tolerate beauty except as "suggested" by ugliness carry their theory to preposterous extremes, but there is a true idea at the basis of that theory. In art as in life and in nature there is need of contrast. Beauty alone will pall, become insipid, common; it appeals most strongly and gives greatest pleasure when it is seen in contrast with its opposite, just as happiness is exalted by a undertone of tragedy and heaven shines the more because of hell.

The people of Connecticut are so eager for daylight saving that the mayors of its chief cities have requested the governor to call a special session of the legislature to give the plan legal sanction.

On the top of our wastefulness in general there's this country's fire loss of a million dollars a day.

The Prince of Wales' youth and shy winning smile caused everybody in Washington to vote him "a nice kid."

How Hot Springs Originate.
The deepest coal mine in England is at Killingworth, near Newcastle, and the mean annual temperature at 400 yards below the surface is 77 degrees, and at 300 yards 70 degrees, while at the surface it is but 48 degrees. This explains the origin of hot springs, for at 3500 yards the heat would be equal to boiling water, taking 20 yards to a degree. The heat of the bath water is 116 degrees, hence they would appear to rise 1,320 yards. Peron relates that at a depth of 2,144 feet in the sea the thermometer falls to 45 degrees, when it is 56 degrees at the surface. Swenberg and Fourer calculate the temperature of the celestial spaces at 50 degrees. Centigrade below freezing. In northern Siberia the ground is frozen permanently to the depth of 600 feet, and only thaws to the extent of three or four feet in summer. Below 600 feet internal heat begins.

When Are You Twenty-One?
Eickstone says: "Full age in male or female is twenty-one years, which age is completed on the day preceding the anniversary of a person's birth, who, till that time, is an infant and so styled to law." Chief Justice Shaw held that "If a man is born on the 10th day of February, he is of age to do any legal act on the morning of the 15th of February, though he may not have lived 21 years by nearly 43 hours. The reason assigned is that in law there is no fraction of a day; and if the birth were on the last second of one day and the act on the first second of the preceding day 21 years after, then 21 years would be complete; and in the law it is the same whether a thing is done upon one moment of the day or another." A person is of full age the day before the twenty-first anniversary of his birthday.

Dove Valuable in Warfare.
It is odd to realize the practical use of the dove, generally accepted as the symbol of peace, in carrying on war, and it has probably surprised many people to learn that the homing pigeon differs materially from the carrier pigeon so long associated with the bearing of messages. As a matter of fact, the carrier pigeon has practically ceased carrying and is nowadays raised for its fine looks rather than its homing instinct. The homing pigeon used in the United States army and navy is of another type, which has been trained through many generations to fly. Training begins when the birds are about three months old, and the flying distances are gradually increased to 500 miles, when the bird is held to be qualified for real work.

Temperamental Disposition.
Frequently a burst of temper will throw a whole office out of gear. A temperamental disposition is sometimes excusable in a great executive, because it is his safety valve. But do not think for one minute that it has aided him to get where he is. On the contrary it has made him climb harder, you may be sure. Save your temper, be patient, be pleasant, and you will save yourself many reactions which work against concentration. But if you will go about your work quietly you will find that much more may be accomplished, because your entire attention will be given to your work, instead of being frittered away in bickering and fault-finding, futile and costly detriments to good work of any kind.—New York Evening Telegram.

Dust To Check Explosions.
Perhaps the oddest, yet one of the most effective, means for preventing—or, at all events, minimizing—disasters in coal mines is the use of rock dust. A lot of it is placed on boards hung by chains from the roofs of mine tunnels. Obviously in case of an explosion the boards will swing and the dust will be thrown off. Following an explosion a roaring flame, let us say, is coming through the tunnel. The air is filled with coal dust (or possibly with inflammable gas) to feed it. But it meets a curtain of non-inflammable rock dust (discharged from the board shelves) and is thereby stopped. Rock dust will not burn under any provocation. Suspended thickly in the air, it acts like an asbestos curtain. The flames cannot get through it.

Select Friends Carefully.
Sometimes the best friends you can have are the kind that let you alone. They seem to know you need your time to yourself and they make the most of their own by attending to business and allowing you to attend to yours. It does not mean they are less concerned in what you are attempting. It merely means they are conscious of the fact that you need your time to yourself. Only true friends can see this and appreciate it. It's the mark of interested friendship that helps one do what is required of him. It becomes a challenge to use well the time and make every effort count for the future. Be sure of the friends you make.—Grit.

She Never Told.
All the preparations were made for a large wedding, and a large crowd of friends was witnessing the ceremony at the bride's home. As the minister neared the words, "I pronounce thee man and wife," the bride turned deathly pale and rushed from the room. Much to the dismay as well as the humiliation of the bridegroom and relatives, she could not be persuaded to return. The guests departed, and to this day the bride has never told the reason for her apparently strange action.

"Indian Summer."
According to William Henry Phyre's 5,000 facts, Indian summer is the early part of November. The name was derived not from the state of weather, but from the fact the weather being mild and balmy the Indians used that period to harvest their corn, and it lasted till the day's end before the winter set in. This season corresponds to the days known as "St. Martin's summer" in England and the Mediterranean countries, although this season in the mentioned countries comes in the fall just before our Indian summer.

Result of Extravagance.
These are not the necessities of life; they can scarcely be called the conveniences; and yet, only because they look pretty, how many want to have them! By these, and other extravagances, the people are reduced to poverty, and forced to borrow of those whom they formerly despised, but who, through industry and frugality, have maintained their standing, in which case it appears plainly that "A poor man on his legs is higher than a gentleman on his knees," as Poor Richard says.—Benjamin Franklin.

Describing a Giant.
The mathematical man can see the fun and mistakes in calculating the size of things. No one has ever given an impression of bulk such as that of the late Professor Clifford—a famous mathematician and an occasional humorist. In a light-hearted essay he described the giant whose favorite food was bread and butter sprinkled with light brown horses.—London Chronicle.

A Slip of the Tongue.
I'm quite sure the most embarrassing moment of my life was when I met my friend Jim —, whose very rich father had just died. Intending to extend to him an expression of my sympathy, by some lapsus linguae I said to him: "Jim, I've just heard of your father's death, and I want to extend to you my sincere congratulations."—Exchange.

Labor Saving.
A boy was in the act of taking a short rest in a plowed field, when the farmer, observing him, shouted: "Hi, there's no road there!" The boy turned around, and finding that as twenty yards lay between him and his father, he was safe, coolly replied: "So I see; but you need not trouble to make one. I shall not come back this way!"

Movement of Sun and Moon.
Both sun and moon move about the earth from east to west. In reality the sun is fixed. The moon revolves from east to west around the earth as its satellite, and both earth and moon move in common around the sun which is fixed, though the motion of the earth about it makes the sun appear to move about the earth from east to west.

Double Tongued.
Dorothy wanted to tell her aunt about another little girl who lived a few doors away. It happened that the other little girl stuttered. As Dorothy didn't know her name and didn't know the word "stutter," she said: "Oh, auntie, you know the little girl that talks double."

Law and Order.
It does not matter what my enemies may accuse me of; in all my life I have been on the side of law and order, and I have never inquired whether those two institutions were white or yellow. Decency is like gold, the same in all countries.—Li Hung Chang

Have No Chance to Forget.
Three separate invitations are usually sent to guests in China. The first is dispatched several days before the banquet, the second on the day itself, as a reminder, and the third about an hour before the sitting down to the table.

Experience.
"Simple Simon went a-fishing in his mother's pail." "Not so simple, at that," declared an amateur sportsman. "I've spent time and money getting to a place where the likelihood of catching fish was no greater!"

Not Enough.
"Swept by saline breezes and washed by the waves of the sea. That's our town." "Any other street-cleaning facilities?" inquired the old grouch.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Another of the Mysteries.
One of the mysteries of life is how a boorish man can keep right on observing the ways of gentlemen and never acquire any of them for his self.—Detroit Free Press.

Better Than Riches.
A man who gives his children habit of industry provides for them better than by giving them a fortune.—Whately.

Astronomical Phenomenon.
Marjorie, three, was watching the sunset: "Daddy," she called, "can you see the sun getting ready to be a moon?"

MONEY FROM 'VARMINT' SKINS

Uncle Sam Got Neat Little Pickup as a Result of the War Against Pests.

The money a farmer gets for wild animal skins is always a comparatively small sum representing a decided by-product line. But Uncle Sam received $35,000 last year as the price of the animal skins he had taken during the year as a by-product of just one phase of his agricultural operations—the war against predatory animals on the range land of the West. The skins of the animals from which the money was taken will result in the saving of millions of dollars worth of live stock to the sheep and cattle men of the range country. The money is paid for extermination work done by the bureau of biological survey of the department of agriculture. Expert hunters and trappers are employed. The skins of all the animals they capture or kill must be sent to the bureau and turned into the United States treasury. Nor are the hunters or trappers permitted to accept bounties. But there is not the same temptation in that respect that there used to be, for since the government hunters and trappers have been on the job their work has been so successful that the states where they already have done away with the old bounty system or are planning to do so. The money formerly paid out in bounties is being appropriated in many states for cooperative work with the department of agriculture, with vastly better results as to number of predatory animals destroyed.

WILLING TO ADMIT ANYTHING

A retired prizefighter amused himself by keeping fighting dogs, which he encouraged to quarrel with other dogs for the sake of the pleasure of witnessing the encounter, and it was his boast that no dog of his was ever beaten. One day, however, when out for a walk with one of his favorite animals a dog was met which proved too good for that of the prizefighter. The combat was brief but decisive, and the pride of the owner of the defeated dog was deeply wounded. He was furious. "Did you see the fight?" he said to the owner of the other dog, who had been the only other witness of the affray. "Yes," said he. "And which was the best dog?" the puzzleist inquired. "Why, yours, of course," was the discreet answer for the owner of the conqueror recognized that he was in the company of a desperate character. "Certainly, your dog gave up and ran away," but it was plain that it was because he found mine too small game and left him in contempt. "That's right," said the prizefighter. "If my dog hadn't licked yours I should have licked you."

Half Dozen Sponsors Now.

A word may be said as to new customs which have come into force at society christenings and marriages, says Gentlewoman, London. In old days a baby usually had three godparents—a boy two godfathers and one godmother, and a girl two godmothers and one godfather. But nowadays there are often six or seven sponsors, and these in varying proportions. And presents were formerly limited to silver cups or spoons and forks from the godparents or near relations. But now costly gifts are given not only by sponsors, but by many of the guests at the christening. Checks for a good sum are often given: a pearl necklace is a frequent gift, or sometimes one or two big pearls are presented, with the promise of more to follow on birthdays or at Christmas. In this way a valuable necklace is gradually formed, to be completed when the lucky girl makes her debut or when she marries. The chief change in weddings is the fact that some of the smartest now take place in the country and not in London.

The latest New York fad is "the splash tea." It is different from the pink and tango kind in that it is served in a swimming pool. The requirements of the newest tea party are that one must be able to swim out to the center of the pool with one hand, balancing the tray with tea things above the water with the other. One's most proficient guests must swim about the tray and take their cups. Then tea is poured, sweetened, flavored, stirred and drunk. Splash teas are never served less than six feet deep. That means that there will be no "kneeling" parties because the water nymphs will be kept too busy filling their tanks with air. The novelty was first introduced at the swimming pool of the Y. W. C. A. and promises to become popular by those mermaids who like to do stunts in the water.

Making Rabbits Profitable.

The biological survey has frequently been called upon to help western farmers in coping with the rabbit pest. In view of the probable economic value of rabbit meat and fur in the coming few years, the energies of the farmers and ranchmen will be directed to the conservation of this important resource.

Already a number of establishments for collecting, dressing, canning and shipping rabbit meat are in operation in western centers. As in Australia the transition of the wild rabbit in this country from its status as a pest to a source of profit is assured, it is believed.—Thrill Magazine.

Amy Smith stated:

"I find Moxley's Margarine gives excellent results in cooking, having tested it on corn bread, biscuits and cakes. I have also served it for table use and think only an expert could detect it from a good grade of table-butter." Amy Smith heads the cookery department of the great woman's magazine, "Today's Housewife."

When a great Doctor, like Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, a great Chemist like Professor Schweitzer, a great jurist like Judge Hughes and a great Cookery Expert, like Amy Smith, all agree, then their decision is certainly worthy of consideration by the rest of us.

And, their statements were made before Wm. J. Moxley, the founder of the margarine industry in America, had created this new and superlatively better product called "DIXIE MARGARINE."

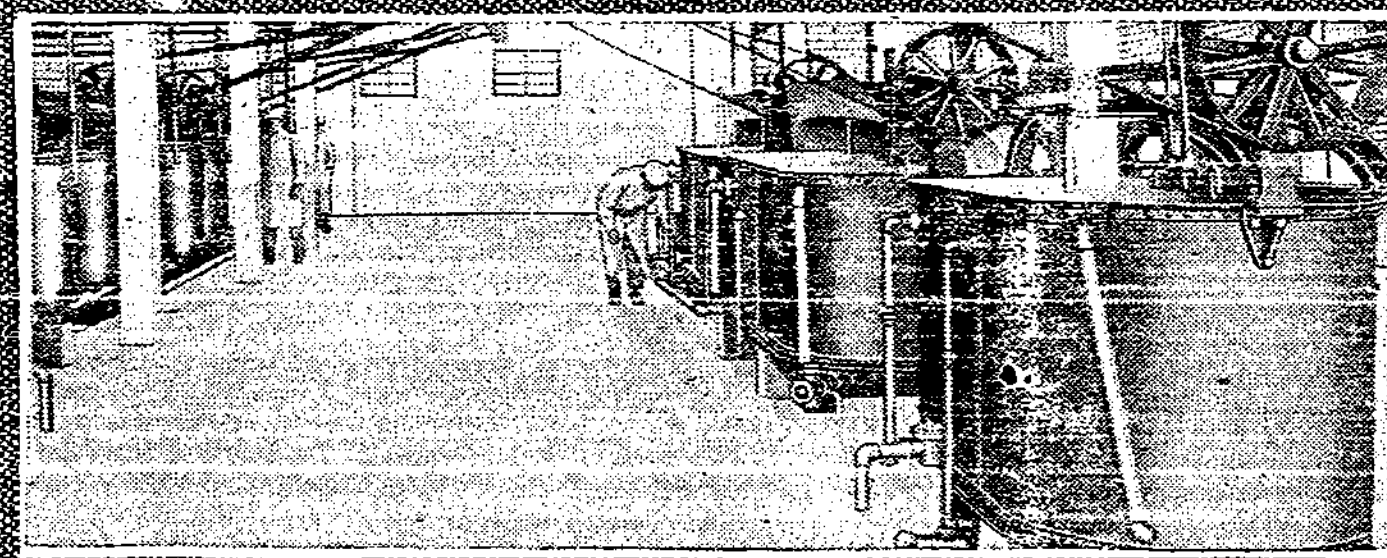

*Pasteurization is the most vital thing in the treatment of foods made from milk. Your family physician or health commissioner will tell you how vital it is.

† According to all government and food laboratory reports, Margarine has the highest food value in the entire lists of foods—including butter itself.

Dixie Margarine is not only purer and better tasting than any margarine ever created before, but it is more nutritious than butter itself.

Below is a picture of one of our great batteries of pasteurizers* for the other ingredients used in the making of DIXIE Margarine.

Order a pound of Dixie today, color it as instructed and not a member of your family can tell the difference between Dixie and the best grade of butter.

Were Built to Endure.

The Egyptian engineer who built the famous water works at Aden constructed the masonry so well that the services of a plumber never have been required. These water works were built 3,000 years before the Christian era and are the most celebrated and antique in the world.

"Highgate."

The word "Highgate" is derived from a gate erected over 400 years ago to receive tolls for the bishop of London. At one time all travelers who tarried at Highgate taverns were required to take an oath never to eat brown bread while they could get white.

Preventive for Cold Feet.

A recent patent covers a shoe to cure cold feet, a heated plate being inserted and the heat being retained by the close-fitting construction of the shoe ankle.

Chinese Wheelbarrows.

Probably more freight and more passengers are transported in China by the wheelbarrow than by any other land method. The wheelbarrow there used differs from that used by us, in the fact that the wheel is set in the center, and thus supports practically the entire load, while the handles are supported in part by a strap or rope over the shoulders of the man who operates it. As a result, the wheelbarrow cooie in China will transport nearly a half-ton on his vehicle.

Sling Gives Relief.

Great relief from pain in neuritis of the arm has been gained from the use of a sling described by Dr. R. T. Williamson in the British Medical Journal. The sling passes over the shoulder of the unaffected arm and under the elbow of the painful arm in such a way that it slightly raises it. This, by raising the shoulder and collar bone, takes off the pressure upon the nerve roots and prevents the weight of the arm from dragging on these nerves.

Whales That Walked.

Whales used to walk. That is the statement of Prof. d'Arcy Thompson, authority on fishes of the sea, in a lecture on that subject at the Royal Institution, London. He said the whale originally had four feet or fins, but that the two hind ones had simply dwindled away. In bronze ages ancestors of the present family of whales walked about much as seals do.

Thunder and Lightning.

Thunder is caused by electric discharge of lightning. This discharge, in forcing its way through the atmosphere, heats the air and vapor lying in its path to a high temperature, causing a violent expansion along the whole length of the flash. The result is a deep compression wave, or what is the same, a noise. Lightning is the flash of the electric explosion.

Origin of "Eleventh Hour."

The "eleventh hour" means figuratively the last minute, or, as we sometimes express it, "just in the nick of time." The expression now in general use, comes from the parable narrated in the gospel according to St. Matthew of the laborers hired for the harvest.

A LONG DRIVE TO DELIVER CAR

William Risbeck, of Donora, who has many friends in Charleroi, left Tuesday morning early in company with Ben Leathers, also of Donora, to deliver a Standard 1920 car to Arthur Day at his home near Portland, Maine.

Mr. Day, who with his wife left Charleroi several weeks ago for his new home in Maine, purchased a new Standard from Mr. Risbeck with the understanding that it was to be delivered on the 20th of November, otherwise the deal was off. While Standard cars are scarce at the present time, this fact did not "faze" Bill a particle for he managed to secure the machine wanted, but it was only obtained on Monday and had to be delivered on time. In order to carry out the contract, Mr. Risbeck determined to deliver the car in person, and securing the services of Mr. Leathers the journey, and was begun early Tuesday morning. While it was a long drive Mr. Risbeck expected to make it in record time, barring accidents.

KEYSTONE STATE A GUIDE TO OTHERS

Delegations from four states visited Harrisburg last week to inquire into methods of administration and the general plan of various departments of the Pennsylvania State government and arrangements have been made for more to inspect the systems followed.

Members of the Massachusetts Assembly came with a letter from Governor Coolidge of the Bay State asking that they be given opportunity to inquire into the State Police Department and spent a day in going over the details of the police system with officials.

Inquiries were also made into the plans and methods of the Highway and Educational departments by officials from Ohio, Wisconsin and Michigan. Inquiries were also made into the administration of the State Department of Health.

NEW STEAMER FOR LOCAL RIVER SERVICE

The freight and passenger packet, Corker, owned by the Fairmont & Pittsburgh Transportation company, arrived in the Pittsburgh harbor on Thursday and is scheduled to leave that harbor at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon for Fairmont and way points on the Monongahela river. The Corker is the largest boat to enter the trade in the last seven or more years, and is built from the machinery and upper works of the steamer Lizzie Bay, which formerly ran in a trade on the Ohio river.

DERRICK BOATS FOR THIS RIVER

Plans are being drawn by the United States Engineers of the Pittsburgh district for the construction of three derrick boats for use in Monongahela river operations. The boats will be built at the government boatyard at Lock No. 4. When completed they will take the place of similar government craft which have become unfit for further service. The number used in the construction of the new derrick boats will be selected Oregon fir and will be shipped to this point from the western coast, especially for governmental purposes.
